Title:
SPECIAL SESSION: Developing Future Leaders in Nursing Research: The Leadership Mentoring in Nursing Research Program

Keywords:
Academic Nursing, Leadership and Mentoring

Description/Overview:
The infrastructure for nursing research in European countries is fragile and postdoctoral nurses have limited career opportunities. Well documented evidence proves leadership and mentoring impacts patient, professional and organizational outcomes. Dutch nurse leaders joined to develop the LMNR program to strengthen future nursing leadership and career development of postdoctoral nurses.

References:

Organizer

Thora Hafsteinsdóttir, PhD
University Medical Center Utrecht
Department of Nursing Science, Julius Center for Health Care Sciences
Associate Professor
Utrecht
Netherlands

Author Summary: Dr. Thóra B. Hafsteinsdóttir, RN, PhD, is senior researcher, University Medical Center Utrecht, the Netherlands and a Professor of Nursing, University of Iceland. Dr. Hafsteinsdóttir is a director of the Board of Directors of SIGMA. Leadership and scholarship of nurses are the central focus of Dr. Hafsteinsdóttir work. She chairs Dutch and European leadership programs, including the Nurse-Lead Program for Doctoral Students and Postdoctoral Nurses in Europe.