Title:
The Relationship-Based Care Model Applied to Building Relationships in Clinical Care and Health Policy

Keywords:
Health Policy, Nursing Education and Relationship-Based Care Model

References:

Abstract Summary:

The future of nursing depends on nurses having a voice in health policy arena. Using the Relationship Based Care Model as a framework, this presentation will demonstrate connections between the relationships that nurses build with patients and colleagues are similar to the relationships that form foundation of health policy work.

Content Outline:

1. Health policy
2. Relationship-Based Care Model
3. Nursing Process

Primary Presenting Author

Charlotte Swint, DNP
Frontier Nursing University
Associate Professor
Hyden KY
USA

Author Summary: Dr. Swint is an Associate Professor at Frontier Nursing University. Her interests are in health policy education and innovations in nursing education. She lives in Atlanta, Georgia.