Learning Objectives

After participating in this session, the learner will be able to:

1. Discuss the definition and domains of Professional Identity in Nursing.
2. Explain the benefits of illuminating and fostering Professional Identity in Nursing.
3. Summarize key findings from the existing body of scientific knowledge on Professional Identity in Nursing.
What does it mean to be a professional nurse?

- 60% of medical programs closed
- Entry and postgraduate medical standards were established
Nursing’s Trajectory

1870s to 1950s
- Virtue based approaches

1960s to present day
- Behaviorist (competency) approaches dominate

Next??
- Virtue + Behaviorist (competency) + identity formation?
Professional Identity Publications
Pub Med 1957-2018
- Nurses should practice to the full extent of their education and training.
- Nurses should be full partners, with physicians and other health professionals, in redesigning health care in the United States (IOM, 2011, p. 4).

Professional Identity in Nursing
Think Tank 1
September 2018
Think Tank #1

Major Outcomes

- Participants affirmed the definition of Professional Identity in Nursing
- Identified and defined the four domains
- Determined key elements and competencies for each domain
- Created the Tree of Impact
Definition

Professional Identity in Nursing is defined as “a sense of oneself, and in relationship with others, that is influenced by characteristics, norms, and values of the nursing discipline, resulting in an individual thinking, acting, and feeling like a nurse.”

(Merton, 1957; Cruess et al., 2006; Godfrey & Young, 2020)
Major Outcomes

- Developed WHY statement for Professional Identity in Nursing
- Refined and defined the four domains
- Identified key elements of each of the four domains
- Drafted the initial conceptual model
- Developed exemplars for each domain
- Identified need for dissemination plan
Domains of Professional Identity in Nursing

- Knowledge
- Leadership
- Values & Ethics
- Professional Comportment

ISPIN Mission and Vision

Mission: To illuminate and foster Professional Identity in Nursing around the world.

Vision: Every nurse in the world will fully embody their professional identity to maximize the well-being of the people they serve.
Impact of Formation of Professional Identity in Nursing

- 50% of practice breakdowns that result in peer review are related to failures in clinical reasoning and in professional responsibility/advocacy (Texas BON, 2016).
- Nurses who fail to commit to professional identity may never develop into expert nurses (Benner, Tanner, & Chesla, 2009).
Impact of Formation of Professional Identity in Nursing

- Identity and psychological wellbeing are linked (Thoits, 2015; Walds et al., 2015).

- Individuals who define their professional priorities more broadly and realistically seem much better placed to draw satisfaction from their roles (Armitage-Chan & May, 2018).

- Understanding the drivers of developing a sound, positive professional identity can enable teachers and leaders to have a positive effect on the individual nurse and the profession as a whole (Johnson, Cowin, Wilson, & Young, 2012).
Implications for Nursing Education

“An adaptive developmental process that happens simultaneously at two levels: (1) at the level of the individual, which involves the psychological development of the person and (2) at the collective level, which involves the socialization of the person into appropriate roles and forms of participation in the community’s work.”

(Jarvis-Selinger, Pratt, & Regehr, 2012, p. 1185-1186)
Implications for Nursing Education

- Identity formation tends to be learner-focused and developmental in nature (Irby & Hamstra, 2016).

- Greater focus on developing the individual's understanding of self and their own identity formation may be helpful in professional identity formation (Benner, Sutphen, Leonard, & Day, 2010).
Implications for Nursing Education

- LVN/LPN
- ADN
- BSN
- Transition to Practice
- Graduate Education
- Transition to Advanced Practice/Leadership
Formation of Professional Identity allows us as nurses to operationalize a clear understanding of our professional identity so that our unique contributions to improve health can be recognized.
Practice: Implications of Professional Identity

“a sense of oneself...resulting in an individual thinking, acting, and feeling like a nurse.”

VALUES AND ETHICS

comprise a “set of core values and principles that guide conduct.”

PROFESSIONAL COMPORMENT

“a nurse’s professional behavior demonstrated through presence, words and actions”
Benefits to Patients and Health

“application of information derived from experiences, critical reflection and scientific evidence.”

LEADERSHIP
“inspiring...to transform a shared vision into reality”

INFORMING PRACTICE
- Evidence-based Practice
- Nurse as Advocate
- Community, National and Global Health
Improved Engagement and Job Satisfaction

- Professional identity and self-concept appear to be linked
  (Tinkler, Smith, Yiannakou, & Robinson, 2018)

- Identity and psychological well-being are linked
  (Thoits, 2015; Walds et al., 2015)

- Individuals who define their professional priorities more broadly and realistically seem much better placed to draw satisfaction from their role
  (Armitage-Chan & May, 2018)
Benefits to Healthcare Organizations

- Improved Nurse Engagement
- Improved Nurse Retention
- Improved Patient Outcomes
Promoting Professional Identity in Practice

- Educate practicing nurses and administrators on the definition, domains and benefits
- Develop Professional Identity Statement for organization
- Align definition and domains with organization’s nursing vision, values and professional practice model
- Utilize exemplars and debriefs of actual practice situations
- Create brand consistency
Brand Image

Factors contributing to inconsistent image
- Variety of education/credentials
- Portrayals in the media and online
- Lack of professionalism

(Godsey, Houghton & Hayes, 2020)

Need to communicate unique value of Nursing
- Decisions makers
- Leaders in healthcare
- Public

(Finkelman & Kenner, 2013)
Creating Brand Image

- Differentiate the value of Nursing
- Communicate core values of Nursing
- Include education, leadership, autonomy, influence in addition to attitudes of caring

(Godsey, Houghton, & Hayes, 2020)
Value Proposition

- Establish unique value of nursing
- Identify key differentiators
- Align with organization’s mission, nursing vision and value, professional practice model
- Informed by professional identity definitions and domains
Implications for Regulation & Policy

- Framework for state boards/accrediting bodies to inform regulation/standards
  - Intentional inclusion of Professional Identity formation in State Board regulation/standards/language and intent
  - Terminology and definition for expectations of profession
  - Reframe how we remediate/discipline nurses (gives us a lens to examine the issue and the nurse’s practice...deviation from standard
  - Professional comportment
  - “You’re putting into words what we’ve known in our hearts”

- Shared language for policy documents
  - Consistent communication & opportunity for improved relationship building with diverse community & stakeholders
Implications for Regulation & Policy

Strong sense of Professional Identity will enable nurses to use knowledge and provide leadership to:

- influence legislators to make well-informed decisions on healthcare policy
- serve on advisory and executive boards
- prepare future nurses to transform the healthcare system
Global Implications

- Every nurse in the world will fully embody their professional identity to maximize the wellbeing of the people they serve.
