Member Inductions Set New Record

Another historic milestone has been reached as the Society now numbers over 300 chapters across the United States, Canada, Korea, and Taiwan.

- By the end of May 1990, 38 new chapters and approximately 15,000 new members were added to the roster of Sigma Theta Tau International-a new record.
- 41 schools are represented by NEW chapters across the United States.

- The new University of Toronto chapter is the second Canadian chapter.
- With the addition of five new chapters, Pennsylvania has the most campuses represented by Sigma Theta Tau International with 27 active chapters. New York runs a close second with 23 chapters.
- 22 Installing Officers conducted the chartering ceremonies across the United States and Canada. The first ceremony was held at Sonoma State University on March 4, 1990.
 Georgia Southwestern College was the site of the last chartering ceremony held May 24, 1990. These ceremonies are a culmination of more than three years of work and dedication by honor societies.

SUM

"Hundreds of members and other nursing leaders, dedicated to the support of scholarship and excellence, have worked to develop honor societies to qualify to be a part of Sigma Theta Tau International. We owe these leaders a special commendation for their work in bringing the opportunity for this honor to many able nursing students and graduates in universities and colleges throughout the world," said Nell J. Watts, Executive Officer. "We look forward to the enrichment they will bring to Sigma Theta Tau International."

A statement was made in the early 1800s by Johann Von Goethe which seems to fit our International Center for Nursing Scholarship. It is, "Three things are to be looked to in a building: that it stands on the right spot; that it be securely founded; that it be successfully executed."

We believe that the Center and electronic International Nursing Library do sit on the "right spot"—that is, the Indiana University/Purdue University-Indianapolis campus, site of the Society's creation. It is securely founded in its mission, construction, and aesthetic appeal. And, it nears successful execution: the completion of the $4.6 million capital funds campaign.

Sigma Theta Tau International members and chapters, the Indianapolis community, nursing groups and associations, friends of nursing, foundations, and corporations have opened their hearts and their checkbooks in this historic effort.

We question whether this project could have successfully reached fruition in any other city . . . at any other time . . . and conducted by any other nursing organization. The Indianapolis community has provided approximately one-half of the underwriting for the Center; a "window of opportunity" now exists in terms of the demonstrated need for an electronic nursing library with a unique scientific database; and, Sigma Theta Tau International's members and chapters, thus far contributing more than $2.4 million, are intensely loval to the Society and enthusiastic about its scholarly activities.

More than 12,000 members have invested an average gift of $150 in the Center and Library. While that is impressive, those 12,000 "knowledge builders" represent only 14 percent of Sigma Theta Tau International's approximately 85,000 active members. To complete the Campaign for the International Center for Nursing Scholarship in 1990, about 3,000 additional individuals are needed to register pledges and gifts.

If you are one of the 70,000 members who has not yet registered a campaign pledge-at whatever level-we invite you to consider doing so at this time. Your gift, whether it be $25 or $2500, will be invaluable to the successful completion of the funding effort. (You may have already received a telephone call inviting your support. If you pledged, we invite you to reconfirm it by submitting a signed pledge card.) Other members will be offered the opportunity and privilege of contributing or increasing their previous gift on the May renewal form.

It is only with your help that our auspicious beginning will come to a good end. Thank you for making your investment in nursing's future.

EXECUTIVE UPDATE

The first five months of 1990 have brought new challenges and new accomplishments to Sigma Theta Tau International as we begin to augment the "Actions for the 1990s" and open the doors of the International Center for Nursing Scholarship and Nursing Library to members and friends of nursing throughout the world.

International Center and Library

- Nearly a thousand members and friends have visited the Center since its dedication in November, 1989. Many take the opportunity to tour the Library and headquarters and to photograph the beautiful brick wall which commemorates their contribution to the Center.
- On April 22, over 400 nurses toured the Center during the Midwest Nursing Research Society Conferences. On April 27, the Indiana University School of Nursing and Dean Constance M. Baker hosted a Dean's Council Diamond Jubilee Reception for over 200 IU nursing alumni. Members of Alpha chapter and headquarters staff conducted tours and answered questions about the architecture, library, and memorabilia on display.
- The third floor of the Center is designed for future Library and headquarters expansion. Currently, lease space is now completed for one tenant and is underway for another which will complete occupancy of the space. The tenants are non-profit organizations and include the Indiana University Center on Philanthropy and a certifying, accrediting division of the American Bar Association.

CURRENT HEALTH NEWS

AHA Study reports changes, trends in 1980's

More hospitals closed and more beds were decertified in the 1980s than in any previous decade, according to a report by the American Hospital Association (AHA). The report looked at how community hospitals were affected in the 1980s by trends in government payment, unsponsored care, hospital expenditures, and demographics.

- The number of community hospitals declined from 5851 in 1980 to 5533 in 1989.
- The number of psychiatric hospitals increased by 200 between 1978 and 1988, and rehabilitation hospitals increased from 69 in 1978 to 119 in 1988.
- The number of rural hospitals declined 12% in 10 years.

- The number of hospital beds peaked at just over one million in 1983, then dropped by 63,000 beds between 1986 and the first half of 1989.
- The number of emergency rooms declined from 5064 in 1984 to 4977 in 1987 and to 4935 in 1988.
- The number of state-certified trauma care centers fell by 323 from 1980 to 1989.

The decade's most significant trend was the surge in outpatient care. According to the report, a milestone was passed in 1986, when for the first

Honor Society Executives convene

The Association of College Honor Societies (ACHS) met in Charlotte, North Carolina, February 1990. The ACHS consists of 57 academic and leadership honor societies which have more than 9000 collegiate chapters and four million members. The member societies of ACHS contribute almost $1 million each year for scholarship aid to undergraduate and graduate students. Becky Gragg, president of Gamma Iota, U. of North Carolina-Charlotte, represented Sigma Theta Tau International at the Saturday evening banquet.

ACHS discussed the topics of endowment development, society management, liability, minority access to education, recognition of chapter advisers, and ethics.

Continuing in office are: president, George L. Robertson (Phi Kappa Phi); vice president, James D. Froula (Tau Beta Pi); member-at-large, Barbara Quilling (Alpha Lambda Delta); and secretary-treasurer, Dorothy I. Mitstifer (Kappa Omicron Nu). Representatives of chapters from nearby institutions of higher education joined the 70 council members at the banquet to celebrate the 65th anniversary of ACHS. Billy Wireman, president of Queens College treated them to a look into the future from the vantage point of the cataclysmic year of 1989.

Epilepsy Foundation sponsors research grant, fellowships

The Epilepsy Foundation of America and the American Epilepsy Society sponsor research grant and research fellowship opportunities for nurses. These programs support basic, clinical, and behavioral research in epilepsy. Funding is limited to $25,000. The deadline for applications for funding in 1991–1992 is August 31, 1990.

The Epilepsy Foundation of America also supports behavioral sciences student fellowships that are available for interested nursing students. The deadline for applications time more people used hospital outpatient services than stayed in the hospital. Ninety-five percent of the nation's community hospitals now offer ambulatory care.

In 1984, over one-fourth of surgeries in community hospitals were outpatient. By 1988, almost one-half of surgeries were performed on an outpatient basis. The report projected this trend is likely to continue through the 1990s as new technologies facilitate delivery of a wider variety of services.

Another major change in services in the decade was the growth in AIDS care. In 1988, 59.4% of hospitals provided general inpatient care to acquired immune deficiency syndrome patients, a 40% increase over 1987. In addition, 2.1% of hospitals had a designated AIDS unit, and 4.1% offered specialized outpatient treatment for those patients.

IAET calls for "National Attack on Bedsores"

The International Association for Enterostomal Therapy (IAET), has called on Congress, the Administration, and America's health care institutions to begin a "National Attack on Bedsores."

Citing patient statistics which show an increasing trend of incidents, the IAET has sent letters of concern to President Bush, Secretary of Health and Human Services Louis Sullivan, and the chairmen of the Health-Related House and Senate Committees.

Kristy Wright, President of IAET, said, "almost 40% of nursing home residents are at risk to develop a bedsore. That is almost one out of every two nursing home residents or 600,000 people."

NCNR announces grants in bioethics, clinical decision making research

The National Center for Nursing Research announced two programs in the area of clinical bioethics research December 15. The grants, titled "Small Grants Program for Bioethics and Clinical Decision Making" and "Individual National Research Service Awards and Career Development Awards in Bioethics and Clinical Decision Making Research," are designed to call attention to the Center's ongoing interest in supporting research and research training in bioethics and clinical decision making.

This program encourages the submission of small scale studies and pilot projects by nurse scientists and multidisciplinary research teams that focus on bioethical issues and dilemmas central to clinical decision making. It is anticipated that findings from studies supported by the small grants program will enable the development of larger scale studies. The Small Grants Program has a single annual receipt date of August 23.

The Individual National Research Service Awards and Career Development Awards in Bioethics and Clinical Decision Making are available to newly developing nurse scientists and senior scientists planning to refocus their research endeavors.

For more information, contact: National Center for Nursing Research Division of Extramural Programs (301) 496-0523.

Demand for nurses with expertise in (IV) home therapy increases

The national AIDS crisis has led to a marked increase in the demand for professional nurses with expertise in providing intravenous (IV) therapy at home, according to the results of an internal survey of the 80 national offices of Olsten Health Care Services, one of the providers of home.health care in the United States.

The demand for these high-tech professionals is particularly strong in San Francisco, Dallas, New York, Miami, Los Angeles, and other large metropolitan cities where the devastation of AIDS is prevalent. "At a certain point in the treatment process, patients with AIDS are best treated in the comfort of their own home," according to Linda Duval, RN, Corporate Assistant Vice President of Olsten Health Care Services.

CGFNS schedules international screening exam

The Commission on Graduates of Foreign Nursing Schools (CGFNS) has announced a screening exam scheduled for August 1, 1990. Held in 52 sites worldwide, the exam gives foreign nurses a way to evaluate their chances of passing the U. S. licensing exam before they leave their own countries. For more information, contact: CGFNS, Fourth Fl., 3600 Market St., Philadelphia, PA 19104-2679.

Nightingale Museum in London developing Resource Center

The Florence Nightingale Museum opened in London, England, over a year ago, on the site of St. Thomas' Hospital, home of the first school of nursing. The museum shows Nightingale's many great achievements, including sanitary reform in India, health reform for the British Army, hospital planning, and pioneering work in statistics.

Nightingale's original material displays such items as books, clothing, letters, and a lamp from the Crimea. Other highlights of the museum are a re-created ward scene at the Crimea and an audio-visual presentation. A Resource Center is being developed that will make the museum's archives of letters and documents available to the public.

The museum is located at 2 Lambeth Palace Road, London SE1 7EW.

University of Alberta sponsors conference on advancing doctoral preparation

The U. of Alberta Faculty of Nursing and Faculty of Extension are sponsoring a conference on advancing doctoral preparation for nurses. The goal of the conference is to identify and explore issues surrounding the advancement of doctoral preparation for nurses. The conference is scheduled for September 27 and 28 at the Hilton International Hotel in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. For information, contact the Faculty of Extension at: (403) 492-3037.

Designated Research Grants Program Underway

Sigma Theta Tau members, corporations, foundations and others may now endow one-year or multi-year research grants as part of the Society's new Designated Research Grants Program.

Contributions of $3,000-$5,000 may be used to underwrite single grants. Interest income generated by tax-deductible gifts of $10,000 or more will provide for grants in perpetuity.

The research awards may be designated in the name of the donor, or in honor or memory of another individual or funding entity. Dr. John P. McGovern, honorary member, recently established the "John P. Mc-Govern Research Grant," to be used for allergy-related research efforts. (Dr. McGovern's clinical practice is in that specialty area.)

For more information, contact Sigma Theta Tau's Development Department, 550 W. North St., Indianapolis, IN 46202, or call 317/634-8171. Participate in International Nursing Research Conference

An international nursing research conference will be held to commemorate the quincentennary of Christopher Columbus' discovery of the new continent in the Americas— 1492–1992.

CONFERENCE DATE: May 19-22, 1992

LOCATION:

Columbus, Ohio

OBJECTIVES:

- International sharing of new knowledge for nursing
- Identify issues and approaches for furthering nursing scholarship around the world
- Promote international networking and colleagueship
- Support development of international nursing research

VOYAGE INTO THE FUTURE THROUGH NURSING RESEARCH

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS—DUE FEBRUARY 15, 1991

Submit abstracts of research reports including historical, philosophical, or ethical inquiry. There will be three kinds of research sessions: paper sessions, poster sessions, and symposia. Topics may include:

- patient care
- the nursing profession
- nursing education
- administration
- other relevant topics.

Paper presentations: abstracts must be of research that will be completed in advance of the Conference. Poster presentations: abstracts may be of completed or ongoing research. Symposia: abstracts must be submitted as a package by a symposium coordinator and must include at least four (4) different presenters.

COSPONSORS:

In cooperation with 10 Ohio university schools of nursing, the 9 Sigma Theta Tau International chapters associated with them, and Sigma Theta Tau International.

Michigan chapters to host Research Utilization conference in November

Louise Jenkins, RN, PhD, The Walter Schroeder Chair in Nursing Research, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, will keynote "Research in Nursing Practice," November 9, 1990. The Research Utilization Conference, sponsored by Sigma Theta Tau International, will be held in East Lansing, Michigan at the Kellogg Center, Michigan State University.

The conference will also include a chapter leaders' conference, Plenary Panel Session, and a Headquarters update.

Host chapters are: Lambda, Wayne State University; Rho, University of Michigan; Alpha Psi, Michigan State University; Eta Zeta, Andrews University; Eta Rho, Eastern Michigan University; Theta Chi, Saginaw Valley State University Center; Theta Psi, Oakland University; Kappa Epsilon, Grand Valley State College; Kappa Iota, Madonna College; and Lambda Zeta, Mercy College of Detroit.

Speakers Patricia Thompson, Nell J. Watts, Jane Barnsteiner, and Suzanne Brouse at the Louisville conference on Research Utilization.

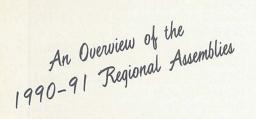

Three recent Society conferences expand nursing knowledge

James Fain introduces speakers Veronica Rempusheski, Bridget Mudge, and Janet Bingle at the Friday morning Plenary Session on Research Utilization in Rhode Island.

Participants in the Denver writers conference listen to Region 1 coordinator Elizabeth Dietz and a headquarters update from Nell J. Watts at the Friday luncheon.

REGIONAL ASSEMBLIES

The future of nursing in the 21st century will depend on nurses developing increased resources and furthering their leadership abilities to make important and meaningful decisions in health care delivery. Sigma Theta Tau International's 1990–91 Regional Assemblies, based on "The Dynamics of Developing Resources: Support for Nursing in the 21st Century," are designed to prepare members for these new challenges.

REGIONAL ASSEMBLY DATES

Region 1 February 1–2, 1991 San Diego, California

Region 2 March 8–9, 1991 St. Louis, Missouri

Region 3 April 5–6, 1991 Memphis, Tennessee

PROGRAM OUTLINE

Session 2: Human Resources "The Mentor as a Resource" Sigma Theta Tau provides an ideal environment to promote mentoring. A mentor is a protector, supporter, teacher and counselor who eases a young nurse's entry and advancement into the work of the world—into that world's unique values, customs and cast of characters. This presentation will feature a special presentor at each Assembly.

Session 2: Grants Administration Suzanne Feethan, RN, PhD

Now that I'm funded, what do I do? Dr. Feetham will conduct a workshop to provide nurse researchers with knowledge about the operations of a funded grant project regardless of the source of funding. (Note: scheduled Friday or Saturday).

- Discusses publicity resources and planning, and developing long and short term publicity plans, including techniques for enhancing the chapter newsletter.
- -"Chapter Governance" Provides guidance and clarification of policies and issues affecting chapter governance—eligibility, bylaws, legalities, recruitment and retention, member involvement, and chapter delegate responsibilities at the House of Delegates.

Presidential Address

Dr. Billye J. Brown, RN, EdD, FAAN Dr. Brown characterizes Sigma Theta Tau International as a diamond that continues to add luster to its many facets as it grows and matures. Her motivational address will discuss using resources of many kinds to benefit the society and nursing worldwide. 7

Development Update

As Sigma Theta Tau nears completion of the historic Knowledge Building Campaign, the Society turns its attention to the long-term financial stability of the organization. Continued membership growth, expansion of research grants, as well as existing programs and services, development of the International Nursing Library and Center management, all constitute a complex and challenging agenda for the 1990s.

In addition to relying on annual membership fees, fees for service, corporate and foundation gifts, and program grants, the Society will continue to invite member support. Numerous ways exist in which members may enjoy tax benefits and provide support with the sense of personal fulfillment.

Planned Giving

A planned gift may be either an outright or a deferred contribution of an asset. Examples of deferred gifts include wills, bequests, life income trusts, life insurance, full or partially retained life estate in a personal residence or other piece of real property.

"Planned Giving Supports Our Future"

Many are familiar with the planned, or deferred, giving programs of their alma maters. We know that a number of major educational institutions claim endowments in the millions of dollars. Numerous small colleges and universities also report $10 million or more in reserve funds. The principal of the savings generates interest on an annual basis, which may be dedicated to operating costs, scholarships, research, or special projects.

Responsible stewardship for Sigma Theta Tau International includes the need for similar plans. An endowment fund will enable the Society to increase its underwriting of research projects, to more rapidly build an international electronic communications system, to respond to the program priorities enumerated by the members, chapters, committees, and officers, and to maintain its lovely new home.

Bequests — a logical first step

A first step in instituting a planned giving program is to invite members to include Sigma Theta Tau International in their wills. Bequests, in 1988 alone, accounted for more than $6.79 billion in charitable gifts to non-profit organizations throughout the United States. The largest member gift to the Center for Nursing Scholarship was, in fact, provided by a bequest from Harriett Becker, Alpha chapter, a former Indiana University School of Nursing faculty member. (Harriett is recognized at the Center for Nursing Scholarship on an exterior plaza column and in the executive officer's office.) Such planned gifts are appealing, for they enable the donor to designate a contribution which is especially meaningful, and which does not deplete her or his annual income.

In addition to designating the executor and manner in which an estate is distributed, a will provides the prospective donor with opportunities to reflect their needs and wishes, and to bestow substantial savings in estate and inheritance taxes. (Members may wish to designate Sigma Theta Tau to receive a portion of the residue of their estate, if they do not have a definite amount to designate.

Suggested bequest wording may be obtained from the Society's Development Department. A will is a legal instrument, and can be drafted by an attorney who is competent in estate planning and will composition. Sigma Theta Tau International's attorney is also available for consultation.

Campaign Nears Completion

Phonathons an Outstanding Success

Approximately 7,500 Sigma Theta Tau International members have pledged more than $1 million in a special telephone fund raising campaign for the Center for Nursing Scholarship since last August.

The phonathons were instituted in an effort to complete the $4.6 million Knowledge Building Campaign in 1990. They have been an outstanding success, according to National Campaign Chair Lucie S. Kelly. "One out of every three members contacted has pledged their support," she commented. "The number of participating members more than doubled, and we are gratified that their average gift is $151. Sigma Theta Tau members have become vested in this project.

Hundreds of additional contributors have pledged $500 or more to secure an engraved walnut brick in the charter section of the Center lobby Commemorative Wall. Executive Officer Nell J. Watts explains the last batch of bricks will be produced in June, after the phonathons have ended. Sections of the wall will be reconfigured, with member and chapter bricks being prominently displayed in the current area. (Nursing groups, foundations, corporations, and friends of nursing will be featured on the adjacent side walls.)

Watts reports that only pledges which are confirmed in writing will officially be counted in the Knowledge Building Campaign total and recognized by the Society. Phonathon participants were sent campaign pledge cards. (Members who have not submitted the completed form and require another may contact the Development Department.)

Chapter Support Increases

Eta chapter, University of Pittsburgh School of Nursing, has increased its $7,000 Knowledge Building Campaign to the $10,000 Arista Circle. "After seeing Sigma Theta Tau's magnificent new home, we knew that we wanted our membership to have the honor of being represented in a meaningful way in this historic venture," comments chapter President Dr. Donna G. Nativio.

One honor society was recognized at the 1989 Biennial Convention for its generous contribution to the Center. Other newly chartered chapters have also been invited to register their support, which should enhance the $454,000 previously invested by 260 chapters. "We hope to secure 100 percent chapter participation," says Campaign Chair Lucie Kelly. "The chapters are Sigma Theta Tau's life-blood. Each one should be an integral part of this effort."

"Indiana University Founders' Room" Funding Continues

More than $22,000 of the $60,000 required to endow the Indiana University Founders' Room has been secured in gifts and pledges. Indiana University School of Nursing Dean Constance M. Baker organized the campaign to establish the secondfloor conference room. Alpha chapter (Indiana University) members and Indianapolis foundations and corporations have generously provided contributions. Baker and her committee continue to invite Founders' Room gifts.

CHAPTER SPOTLIGHT

Here and continually growing social problem that is reaching epic proportions. It directly affects many people in the United States.

The members of Eta Psi chapter (Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, North Carolina) have started a nursing clinic at a shelter for the homeless. The shelter, sponsored by Asheville-Buncombe Community Christian Ministry (ABCCM), an interdenominational organization that ministers to the needy, is located in Asheville, North Carolina. The shelter started in a church basement in February 1985 and opened in January 1989 when the sheltered moved to expanded quarters.

Planning the Clinic

The idea for this project arose at an Eta Psi officer's planning retreat in July 1988. "We wanted to contribute to the community and implement our theme for the year, 'Excellence in Action,' so we decided to provide health care to the ABCCM shelter guests,'' said Pegge Johnson-Saylor, RNC, PhD, Eta Psi president.

After this proposal was approved by the membership, some Eta Psi members formed an ad hoc group and met with the ABCCM ministry director and shelter director.

"Luckily, the shelter was preparing to move into expanded quarters. Everyone agreed to establish a nursing clinic in the shelter after the move," said Johnson-Saylor.

Eta Psi had time to organize and develop several items and ideas, before the new shelter opened including forming a Health Services Committee (which consisted of equal numbers of Eta Psi and ABCCM Shelter Board members), developing nursing protocols for common health problems reported by the homeless, devising a recordkeeping system for documentation and establishing a data base review and study (remembering the shelter guest's need for privacy), and developing a supply list (filled by hospitals, medical supply houses, church organizations, and individual nurse and private contributions).

In January 1989, the expanded

Eta Psi Chapter Helps the Homeless

shelter and new nursing clinic opened—even though the clinic room wasn't completed and supplies weren't yet available. The clinic was staffed with two volunteer nurses one night a week. These volunteer nurses mingled and talked with shelter guests to see what health care they may have needed. In the spring, the clinic room was completed and supplies were available.

Learning and Implementing

"Several members went to a 'Health Care of the Homeless' conference in Charleston, South Carolina and learned that common health needs of the homeless are much like the Civil War injuries were— frostbite, foot problems, rashes and bites, tuberculosis, respiratory problems. We were also told by local hospital emergency room personnel that many homeless were using the emergency room as their primary source of care," said Johnson-Saylor.

This man, a former guest at the shelter, was so proud of having a job and a suit he visited the shelter to tell the volunteers his good news.

In response to those needs, infection control and medication policies were developed, a communications book was implemented (listing shelter guests' visits to the clinic, any followup that needed to be done, and notes on protocol), and by October 1989, staffing was increased to two nights a week.

The members at this time were especially interested in teaching the shelter guests preventative health care. A student nurse on a special project and a shelter guest made posters on foot care, handwashing, and clinic hours to hang throughout the shelter. Tuberculosis skin testing for guests, staff, and volunteers was performed. The volunteer nurses talked to the shelter guests and staff about sanitation, especially in the kitchen. They also assisted health department nurses with Gamma Globulin administration and education after one shelter guest was diagnosed with hepatitis.

Results and Future Plans

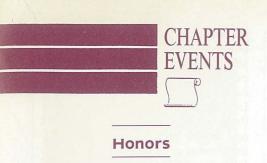

Eta Psi members now assist in the orientation for new volunteer shelter staff. They have now formed a mentor group and use volunteers from the larger nursing community to help staff the clinic. Each team of two volunteer nurses always includes at least one Eta Psi member. In January 1990, staffing was again increased by opening the clinic for two hours, one morning per week. This significant addition to the shelter has also resulted in some community action and involvement as well.

"We networked within the community about the unavailability of referral resources and this has already had some impact on the health care system," said Johnson-Saylor. "The local health department is seeking to decrease waiting time for new patients from 16 weeks to four weeks, and the county commissioner hosted an open forum on the needs of the homeless."

Those involved in the clinic are finding an increasing number of families along with the previously documented incidence of the chronically mentally ill and the substance abusers. They are particularly concerned to see the increasingly large number of young adults. Their future plans address these increasing numbers.

"We are developing a list of nurse specialists in various areas for consultation, as well as planning some support groups for guests. We also intend to look at the broader question of the needs of the homeless, especially health policy implications and responsibilities. In fact, Alise Erwin, an Eta Psi member who was on the original ad hoc group and is active in the clinic, serves on the United Way Problem Solving Committee," said Johnson-Saylor.

"We are always seeking to make maximal use of existing resources. We want to help find solutions to the underlying problems of our area's homeless people." Cathy L. Crabiel Communications Specialist

Alpha Chi, Boston College, and Eta Omega, U. of Lowell honored Mitchell T. Rabkin, MD, at a reception at Beth Israel Hospital January 3, 1990. The chapters jointly sponsored Rabkin's nomination in recognition of his support for nurses and nursing.

Rabkin was inducted as an honorary member at the Biennial Convention in Indianapolis in November, 1989. Rabkin is president of Beth Israel Hospital, a major Harvard teaching affiliate nationally and internationally recognized for a professional practice environment based on primary nursing.

Joyce C. Clifford, vice president for nursing and nurse-in-chief, presented a copy of Nursing: The Finest Art to Rabkin on behalf of Beth Israel nurses. She related her feelings of colleagueship with Rabkin and its importance to the success of patient care at Beth Israel Hospital.

Joan Riley, Third Vice President, Sigma Theta Tau International, brought greetings from the Governing Council of Sigma Theta Tau International. She reviewed the history and purpose of honorary membership.

Awards

Alpha Beta, Loyola U. of Chicago, recently presented the following awards at their annual meeting:

Excellence in Education: Julia Lane, Dean, Marcella Niehoff School of Nursing, Loyola U.; for her outstanding leadership and accomplishments in nursing education as well as her inspiring teaching and counseling to nursing students.

Excellence in Nursing Practice: Kathleen L. Grady, Clinical Nurse Specialist, Heart Transplant Program, Loyola U. Medical Center; for her outstanding contributions to clinical nursing practice locally and nationally.

Excellence in Research: Rosanne Perez-Woods, Professor, Marcella Niehoff School of Nursing, Loyola U.; for her consistently high-quality nursing research projects as well as her role-modeling and mentoring of developing nurse researchers.

Beth Vaughan-Wrobel, President-Elect, Sigma Theta Tau International, addressed the inductees at the induction ceremony of Epsilon Omicron, Harding U.-Helen Lambert, Jamie Goslin, and Jim Counts. Kathy Parish received scholarships and received the Excellence in Practice Award.

Kappa Epsilon, Grand Valley State U., Michigan, recognized two of its members with awards for their contributions to and excellence in the field of nursing. The award for Excellence in Education was presented to Bonnie Wesorick, Clinical Nurse Specialist at Butterworth Hospital and Research Associate for Grand Valley State U. School of Health Sciences. Martha McGrail received the award for Excellence in Nursing Practice. McGrail is Pediatrics Clinics Coordinator at Butterworth Hospital.

Media

Epsilon Xi recently sponsored the one character, one act play, Lillian Wald: At Home on Henry St. The play was the story of a nurse who visited Washington, DC in an attempt to persuade President Woodrow Wilson to keep the United States out of World War I.

Iota, Vanderbilt U., sponsored a reception for students and faculty held at the Vanderbilt University School of Nursing February 8, 1990 in honor of Kenneth Wallston, PhD. Wallston was inducted as an honorary member of Sigma Theta Tau International at the Biennial Convention in Indianapolis, November, 1989.

Alpha Omega, Adelphi U., Garden City, New York, hosts a weekly radio talk show, "Nursing News for the Community." The program airs each Wednesday from 6 to 6:30pm on Adelphi U.'s WBAU 90.3 FM. "Nursing News for the Community" features timely health issues presented by registered nurses who are specialists in the field. The program went on the air in January 1990 and is co-hosted by Margaret Leonard and Teresa Aprigliano, both Alpha Omega members. Topics already addressed on the program include community access to health care, cholestrol, breast cancer, sexuality, and menopause. Future programs will feature AIDS, alcohol and drug abuse, lyme disease, infertility and invitro fertilization.

MEMBERS ON THE MOVE

Honors

Jean A. Kelley, Nu, U. of Alabama, retired in December 1989 from the U. of Alabama-Birmingham after serving as Professor and Associate Dean for the Graduate Programs in Nursing for 20 years. By resolution of the Board of Trustees for the U. of Alabama, an Endowed Lectureship was established in Kelley's name. . . . Jeanne Ouint Benoliel, Psi, U. of Washington, retired from the U. of Washington School of Nursing in December, 1989. As a tribute to her career contributions to nursing, the Jeanne Ouint Benoliel Graduate Student Fellowship was established at the U. of Washington. The fund will enable future doctoral students to pursue the areas of inquiry that have been the hallmark of Benoliel's scholarship: loss, grief, bereavement, and lifethreatening illnesses. . . . Paulette Sides, Delta Psi. U. of Kentucky, is one of 121 United States collegians named to the USA Today All-USA College Academic Team. Sides was named to the newspaper's honorable mention team. The team was chosen on the basis of scholastic achievement and involvement in off-campus community activities. . . . Audrey F. Spector, Epsilon Theta, U. of Texas-Austin, retired as Executive Director of the Southern Council on Collegiate Education for Nursing (SCCEN) in December 1989. . . . Professor Madeleine Leininger, Lambda, Wayne State U., Professor of Nursing and Anthropology, Wayne State received an Honorary Doctor of Science degree at the graduation ceremonies at the University of Indianapolis, Indianapolis, Indiana. She also presented her research and theory at the new Sigma Theta Tau Epsilon Chapter of the School of Nursing at University of Indianapolis on May 18, 1990.

Thelma Schorr, Alpha Zeta, Columbia U., has retired from her position as president and publisher of the American Journal of Nursing Company. Schorr had been with the American Journal of Nursing Company nearly 40 years and had served as president since 1981. Schorr was editor on the staff of the American Journal of Nursing 1950 to 1981 and editor-in-chief 1971 to 1981.

Rozella Schlotfeldt, Alpha Mu, Case Western Reserve U., was honored at a special tribute ceremony and 75th birthday celebration September 8, 1989. Presented by May L. Wykle, the tribute recognized Schlotfeldt as a leader in nursing education. Schlotfeldt is currently on the faculty of the Frances Payne Bolton School of Nursing, Case Western Reserve U., as well as Dean Emeritus of the school. In 1972, the Rozella M.

Schlotfeldt Lectureship was established by colleagues and friends in recognition of her outstanding leadership as Dean of the Frances Payne Bolton

School of Nursing.

Dr. Schlotfeldt continues an active schedule of teaching, writing, and consulting across the country. In her tribute, Wykle said, "As one of our foremost visionary leaders, Rozella is nursing's answer to President Bush and his quest for a thousand points of light. Because of her strong belief in the discipline of nursing's future, Rozella always speaks of nursing's becoming. The recipient of many honors and honorary degrees, she has given multifarious scholarly presentations throughout the world. In addition, she has published well over 100 papers and served on innumerable boards and committees."

Awards

Billye J. Brown, Epsilon Theta, U. of Texas-Austin, Sigma Theta Tau International President, was awarded the Sister Bernadette Armiger Award by the American Association of Colleges of Nursing in recognition of her significant contributions to nursing education and to the advancement of the nursing profession. . . . Dr. Madeleine Leininger, Lambda, Wayne State U., Professor of Nursing and Anthropology, Wayne State University received the Woman of Science Award from California State College at Fullerton in February, 1990. She was recognized for her pioneering scientific and humanistic research work on transcultural health and nursing care, qualitative research, and caring science. She was the first nurse scientist and social scientist to receive this award. Her address was "Transcultural Health Care Research: Relevance and Meaning Worldwide." ... Rita Pickler, Gamma Omega, Virginia Commonwealth U., was selected the first recipient of the Barbara Brodie Scholars Endowment Award. The endowment provides financial support for doctoral dissertation research in the humanities as well as for graduate nursing students and nurse practitioners. . . . Kathy Clark, Gamma Mu, Clemson U., received the Association of Rehabilitation Nurses Mary Ann Mikulic Scholarship. The scholarship covers full tuition to the Rehabilitation Nursing Foundation's two-week basic rehabilitation nursing course, "Directions for Practice." . . . Margaret J. Cushman, Iota Upsilon, U. of Hartford, Delta Mu, Yale U., received the Creative Tribute Award for excellence and superior creative achievement from the Creative Thinking Association of America. Cushman was recognized for her extraordinary dedication and tireless effort to care for others and advance the nursing profession. . . . Evelyn Fitzwater, Beta Iota, U. of Cincinnati, was awarded the Army Commendation Medal for Meritorious Service as Public Affairs Officer of the 311th Station Hospital Reserve Unit, Sharonville, Ohio. Fitzwater has been a member of the Reserve Army Nurse Corps since 1983.

Achievements

Fran Caffey Sandin, Beta Beta, Texas Woman's U., is the author of See you later, Jeffrey, a book about the death of her infant son. The book is published by Tyndale House Publishers... Dolores M. Alford, Beta Beta, Texas Woman's U., has presented Members on the Move-continued

Congratulations to Executive Officer Nell J. Watts. On May 13, Watts received an honorary doctorate of science from Indiana University. The honorary degree was conferred at the Indiana University/Purdue University at Indianapolis (IUPUI) commencement ceremonies at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Tape 3 "Selecting Long-Term Care" in the new video series "All About Aging" for AgeView, Inc. Texas Tech School of Medicine sponsored Tape 3. ... Kathryn Jackson, Zeta Omega at-large, College of New Rochelle, was selected 1990 Nurse of the Year at the first annual meeting of the Nursing Department of New Rochelle Hospital Medical Center. . . . Nancy L. Whitman, Beta Kappa, U. of Virginia, has been named an HBO and Company Nurse Scholar. As one of nine Nurse Scholars selected from over 300 applicants from throughout the United States, Whitman attended an intensive seminar at HBO and Company's headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, March 14-17, 1990. The seminar provided comprehensive instruction about health care information systems. . . . Jacqueline Joseph Birmingham, Iota Upsilon, U. of Hartford, was elected president of the American Association for Continuity of Care (AACC). Birmingham currently is the Director of Home Care Planning at Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Connecticut. . . . Mark L. Phippen, Delta Alpha, U. of Texas Health Sciences Center at San Antonio, was elected president of the Association of Operating Room Nurses (AORN) at the association's 37th Annual Congress in Houston. Texas March 18-23, 1990. . . . Jean M. Reeder, Pi, U. of Maryland, was elected president-elect of the Association of Operating Room Nurses (AORN). Reeder has been a member of AORN's board of directors since 1986.... Divina Grossman, Beta Tau, U. of Miami, received a $15,000 Nursing Research Grant-in-Aid from the American Heart Association Florida Affiliate. The grant will support

Grossman's study, "Blood Pressure Rhythms in Early School-Age Children of Normotensive and Hypertensive Parents." . . Alexa Stuifbergen, Epsilon Theta, U. of Texas-Austin, was the recipient of the Rehabilitation Nursing Foundation's (RNF) 1989 Research Grant, for her proposal entitled "Health-Promoting Knowledge, Attitudes, and Behaviors of Adults with Disabilities." The award was presented at the Association of Rehabilitation Nurses (ARN) annual educational conference Fall 1989.

Rita M. Carty, Epsilon Zeta, George Mason U., Dean, School of Nursing, George Mason University, has been elected president of the American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN).

Carty, whose two-year term began at the conclusion of the AACN semiannual meeting in Washington, D.C., March 24–27, will lead the programs and activities of the national association representing more than 400 schools of nursing at universities and four-year colleges nationwide.

Past president receives honorary degree, serves as guest editor

Vernice Ferguson, past president of Sigma Theta Tau International, received the Doctor of Public Service (D.P.S.) Honorary Degree at the June Commencement Ceremony of Northeastern University.

The September 1990 issue of the Nursing Clinics of North America is devoted to "Nursing shortage: Dynamics and Solutions." Ferguson is the guest editor. She has been joined by nine nurse scholars, one medical center director who is an honorary member of Sigma Theta Tau International, and two physicians. Ferguson provided the leadership for Arista '87, Sigma Theta Tau International's first think tank conference which addressed "Nurses and the Delivery of Health Care Services—Now and in the Future."

1990 Collateral Reviewers Selected

Collateral Reviewers are selected annually by the Research Committee. Reviewers concentrate primarily on Sigma Theta Tau's research grants program, completing critiques of applications within their area(s) of expertise. Reviewers also provide experience in grant review processes to investigators in the early years of their research careers. They may assist in other research-related reviews including convention scientific session abstracts.

The following Collateral Reviewers have been selected for 1990.

Cheryl Tatano Beck, DSNc, CNM, FL; Linda K. Birenbaum, RN, PhD, PA; Jane Bliss-Holtz, RN, DNSc, NJ; Linda P. Brown, RN, PhD, PA; Penny S. Cass, RN, PhD, MI; Heather F. The Winter issue of Reflections, Volume 15, Number 4, carried a brief biographical sketch of Carol P. Germain, who was elected to the 1989–1991 Research Committee. Dr. Germain, a fellow of the American Academy of Nursing, research-related experience includes:

- Doctoral dissertation chairperson and committee member, U. of Pennsylvania
- Manuscript reviewer, IMAGE, Journal of Nursing Scholarship; Nursing Research; Western Journal of Nursing Research
- Cabinet on Nursing Research, American Nurses' Association, elected 1985–87, re-elected 1987–89
- Cabinet on Nursing Research, New Jersey State Nurses' Association, elected 1984–89
- Institute for Nursing, New Jersey State Nurses' Association, Research Committee, 1988-present
- Teacher of undergraduate research

(general) and doctoral research (qualitative) courses The editors are pleased to add this additional information.

LIBRARY ON-LINE

As the electronic component of the International Nursing Library has taken shape during the past few months, a major consideration was the software program needed to develop the databases. The variety of databases and services planned for the electronic Library mandated that this database software be extremely flexible, with the capability for storing and retrieving textual information. Sigma Theta Tau International is pleased to announce that it has recently signed a software license agreement with BRS Software Products (BRS) for use of BRS/SEARCH®.

BRS/SEARCH

BRS/SEARCH is the most powerful, versatile, full-text management and retrieval software available, and is the premier database management program for storing and retrieving textual information. Currently in operation in more than two hundred installations across the USA, BRS/ SEARCH provides the capability to store, maintain, and search multiple databases with thousands of records each, providing full-text search and retrieval of information in the databases. Features of BRS/SEARCH include power, flexibility, efficiency, and ease of use. Its refined searching power allows users to eliminate irrelevant material so that the information retrieved more closely matches their needs. In addition, the interactive query ability lets novice individuals learn to search and retrieve quickly.

After selecting this search software, International Nursing Library staff and contract staff from Indiana University Computing Services Division had seven days of intensive training on the features and use of BRS/ SEARCH. We then moved quickly to refine the basic design of the cornerstone database for the electronic component of the International Nursing Library, the on-line version of the Directory of Nurse Researchers. Using the resulting database structure, subscribers to the INL will be able to search and retrieve information from the nurse researchers database according to data items contained in the database.

Search and Retrieve

Examples of these items include: demographic information about nurse researchers (e.g., name, geographic location, language skills, discipline of highest degree), • demographic information about specific research projects (e.g., project status,

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate The International Center for Nursing Scholarship and Nursing Library on their prompt and professional service. I was vainly searching for a nursing research study published in a nursing journal, which was quoted in another nursing journal, however, it lacked the title and other references to find the original publication.

I even called the institution where the study was performed and the original journal it was published in and they could not tell me the published reference. As a last resort, I contacted the above library and within twelve hours, "Margie" had left a message of the complete title, journal volume, date and page of the study I was looking for with my secretary. Several days later, the institution where the study was performed, mailed me a copy of the article, which I was grateful for, but I wanted to contact you and congratulate the staff of the Center for Nursing Scholarship and Nursing Library as an excellent professional resource. A special "thanks" to Margie, also. My colleagues and I will certainly use your service again.

Professional regards,

Jose + Manuer Hander Br

The full-text search capabilities of BRS/SEARCH will assist in searching and retrieving relevant titles of the researchers' dissertation or projects. It will also allow search and retrieval of research project abstracts, which may be added to this database in the future.

The versatility of BRS/SEARCH provides the International Nursing Library great flexibility in developing electronic databases that meet identified needs for greater access to nursing information.

Friends of Library meet

On April 10, Dr. Myrtle Aydelotte chaired a meeting of the Friends of the Library Committee in Washington, D.C. in Sr. Rosemary Donley's office at the Catholic University of America.

The Friends of the Library Committee will be coordinated by a steering committee initially comprised of Faye G. Abdellah, Sr. Rosemary Donley, Vernice D. Ferguson, C. Wayne Hawkins and Beth C. Vaughan-Wrobel.

Archival Consultants

Thirteen Archival Resource Consultants are available to help develop, maintain, and improve each chapter's archive collection. The consultants were selected by the Sigma Theta Tau Heritage Committee based on demonstrated expertise in archival and historical matters. They represent expertise in a wide variety of areas, including classification and organization of archives; development of historical collections; oral history; and preparation and preservation of chapter history.

The list of members who serve as Archival Resource Consultants is available from the International Nursing Library at Sigma Theta Tau International headquarters.

Address questions to Dr. Carole Hudgings (317) 634-8171.

"There's Always More Room in the Inn!"

M. Patricia Donahue, President, AAHN

The concept of collegiality is composed of numerous components. It is like a precious jewel or gem cut in a particular form with numerous facets so as to have special brilliance. Each of these facets contributes to the overall growth of collegiality and serves to enhance its value. In previous columns some of these facets such as "mutual sharing" have been identified and discussed. But one of particular significance is frequently not highlighted, or perhaps not even thought of in reference to collegiality is CELEBRATION. One cannot deny that colleagues do often come together to mutually share in commonalties and differences. Yet, how often are individuals' or groups' achievements recognized and celebrated by colleagues? How often is there common rejoicing which provides an atmosphere and an environment which foster growth and creativity?

A recent event in nursing's history occurred which epitomized this idea of celebration. What is even more remarkable is the fact that it took place during the most adverse weather conditions on 15 November 1989. Rain, bitter cold, and strong wind did not overshadow this event that warmed the hearts of all who attended. The 'Dedication Ceremony' for the International Center for Nursing Scholarship held in conjunction with the 30th Biennial Convention of Sigma Theta Tau International was indeed a cause for celebration. It was the realization of a dream whose seed had been sown some ten years previously. It is no wonder that the inclement weather did not dampen the spirit of those attending nor force them to move the event into a nice, warm building.

The International Center for Nursing Scholarship and the Nursing Library were designed to serve as a "nerve center" whereby the goals of the continuing commitment to knowledge, the strengthening of the scientific base of knowledge, and the sharing of knowledge would be realized. It will ultimately serve as "... an international professional, intellectual and collegial home for nurses" [1]. This undertaking is consistent with the continuing vision of Sigma Theta Tau: "To recognize and encourage professional excellence, leadership and creative work; and to build, share and use knowledge for the well-being and betterment of people throughout the world" [2].

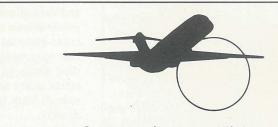

What an impressive setting in which to observe collegiality in action. What an impressive setting in which to observe the progression of nursing scholarship that will benefit healthcare throughout the world. What an impressive setting in which to sit, contemplate and dream about the past, the present, and the future of nursing. What an impresive setting in which to come together and celebrate!

To Sigma Theta Tau International and all of its members—Congratulations on this great achievement that will have an eternal impact on nurses, nursing, and the general public. To nurses everywhere—join in celebrating this great event and visit the Center at your first opportunity.

Opportunity to publish

USAir Magazine, the official in-flight publication of USAir, is interested in publishing healthcare and research articles written by Sigma Theta Tau International members. The articles would appear in the magazine's "Health" column and cover topics of general interest to the public such as:

- Overcoming jet lag
- Decreasing the stress of frequent travel
- Dealing with illness while away from home
- How food choices before and after long flights affect your adjustment at your destination
- Your health in the 21st century

If you would like to participate in this project, please submit topic ideas, a sample of previously published work, and a brief biography to:
