INDIVIDUAL LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

Model the Way

- Maintaining the standard while helping others grow by delegating

Inspire a Shared Vision

- Sharing my vision with my colleagues and inspiring them to take ownership of the NFLA project

Challenge the Process

- Challenged APN education dissemination practices by encouraging more simulation

Enable Others to Act

- Mentoring other faculty members with transition from clinical practice to academia

Encourage the Heart

- Notified Chair and Director of Communications for every accomplishment of faculty

Relationship of Three

TEAM LEADERSHIP PROJECT

Background

- Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner students (AGACNPs) in clinicals without adequate preparation

Purpose

- Proficiently prepare AGACNPs by integrating experiential learning through simulation prior to encountering patients in the clinical arena

Outcomes

- More efficient while conducting thorough and/ or focused history and physical examination
- More comfortable with presenting patient data, assessment and differential diagnoses

Implications for Nursing Education

- Increased access for NP student clinical sites
- Better prepared NP students at the bedside
- Improved patient outcomes during AGACNP clinicals
- Increased use of simulation in nursing education
