Engaging Graduate Students in Curriculum Development

Robin Dewald, PhD, RN, CNE; Lori Gofier, MS, RN, OCN, CAPA; Maureen Sileo, MS, RN, CEN, CLNC; Andrew Palm, MS, RN, CNE; Marie Anne Mancuso, MS, RN. Excelsior College, Albany, NY

1. Organizational Process
   How we began and why

2. Benefits
   Benefits to the organization
   Benefits to students/graduates
   Educator preparedness

3. Challenges
   Readiness
   Technology
   Time
   Scheduling

4. Mentoring
   Triads
   Role modeling
   Flexibility
   Commitment

5. 3 Ps
   Process
   Project
   People

6. Regulations
   External and internal
   Instructional design
   Quality Matters
   Accreditors
   Program outcomes

7. Success
   Achievement of learning outcomes
   Real-world experience
   Ready, willing, and able
More Bang For Your Buck: Engaging Graduate Students in Curriculum Development

Roain Dewald, PhD, RN, CNE
Maureen.gif, MS, RN, CEN, CLNC
Andrew Palp, MS, RN, CNE
Melie Anne Manos, MS, RN
Lori Golfer, MS, RN, OCN, GAPA