EMERGING GLOBAL LEADER INSTITUTE

7-10 September 2016
Renaissance Washington, D.C.
Downtown Hotel

Sigma Theta Tau International
Honor Society of Nursing

Presented by
Sigma Theta Tau International
This four-day institute is designed to prepare healthcare leaders from all disciplines to view issues from a global perspective so they can successfully participate in global health ventures, consulting, thought leadership, and practice.
The institute was created - based on recommendations from a Sigma Theta Tau International task force, as well as external global business and marketing advisors – to encompass the “need to know” information necessary for international healthcare practitioners preparing for, or already in, leadership roles.
This institute is designed to prepare globally-aware healthcare leaders to:

1. Successfully participate in global healthcare ventures and networking.
2. Become a global thought and practice leader, locally, and regionally.
3. Provide local and global regional consultation to effectively meet dynamic contemporary global healthcare needs.
4. View healthcare issues from a global perspective.
