References:

Weir, K. (2012). Improving patient-physician communication: with their expertise in communication, psychologists are identifying new ways to help people become more involved in their own care. Monitor on Psychology, 43(10), 36-38.