

Learning Activity:

LEARNING OBJECTIVES	EXPANDED CONTENT OUTLINE
1. Discuss the elements that influence functional status in patients with cancer pain.	1. Discuss the elements that influence functional status in patients with cancer pain. a. Pain b. Pain related Distress c. Perceived control over pain
2. Identify factors that affect distress in patients with cancer pain.	2. Identify factors that affect distress in patients with cancer pain. a. Racial disparities and socioeconomic status b. Lack of perceived control over pain
3. Explore the development of interventions to improve perceived control over pain in African Americans with cancer pain.	3. Explore the role of perceived control over pain in the development of interventions to improve functional status in African Americans with cancer pain. a. Mediation of pain-related distress between pain and functional status b. Mediation of perceived control over pain between pain and pain-related distress c. Potential interventions to improve perceived control over pain d. Testing of components of POP-C intervention